

Your Liberation Is on the Line

The last paragraph of an article in Lion's Roar, linked here.

By Rev. Angel Kyodo Williams

It comes down to this: if you don't get on your path, I don't get to finish mine. We're bound. So it is my deepest hope that whatever part of you is holding some idea from wherever you sit, whatever location, if you are caught up, fixated on being a victim, or on the idea that you should just be guilt-ridden and there's nothing you could possibly do to redeem yourself, wherever you are caught up, wherever you are stuck, wherever you are bound—this is not cause for concern. This is not cause for you to give up. This is exactly where your path begins. There's no reason to go out and fix yourself up and have it all together. You start exactly where you are, the truth of your existence right here and now. Know that no one has your answers. Just commit—that's your job. If you have fierce commitment to your own liberation, then you are worthy to walk on this path toward liberation for all.
